

Dear Linda

This mission was a success for number of reasons. The fact that the team came and returned incident free is testimony to faith and prayer. A couple weeks before, I was tempted to call it off because of major concerns. After much prayer, I decided to leave it in God's hand and it worked out beautifully.

As the time approached, fewer and fewer of my folk could make a definite commitment to participate in the event. This was very discouraging because I had such great enthusiasm at the start. Eventually, a few stood up and did a great job.

The fact that neither yourself nor Karla could make it was cause for concern. How can I say thanks enough to Val and Rich for the tremendous job they did.

We did not get to the numbers we had anticipated but from all indication, this was a learning experience for us as much as for the team. Our efforts did not always get to where we wanted but those who came benefited and we believe that valuable seeds have been sown. We are trusting God that they will germinate and become strong plants for his Kingdom.

I am sorry for the unexpected expenses. I wish that the church could have done more but there are serious limitations and we do face some significant budgetary constraints. We are still trusting the Lord to open doors and we believe that he is already doing that.

I will send a special word of thanks to Rev. Cherry and her pastor. She brought a wonderful message to our church and I hope that the possibility will present itself for her to return and minister to us again.

On behalf of the church, thanks for the team and what was accomplished through them. To God be the glory.

Sincerely,
Rev. Walters
